IT'S AN HONOUR

Australia Celebrating Australians

Member of the Order of Australia

In the Australian honours system appointments to the Order of Australia confer recognition for outstanding achievement and service.

The Member of the Order of Australia is awarded for service in a particular locality or field of activity or to a particular group.

Recipients of the Order of Australia are from many, fields of endeavour and all walks of life.

About the award

The Order of Australia has four levels:

- Companion of the Order (AC)
- Officer of the Order (AO)
- Member of the Order (AM), and
- Medal of the Order (OAM).

How it is awarded

The Order of Australia is the pre-eminent way Australians recognise the achievements and service of their fellow citizens.

Nominations to the Order of Australia come directly from the community: either individuals or groups.

Once a nomination has been submitted, the Australian Honours Secretariat at Government House in Canberra conducts further research and contacts referees.

The Council of the Order of Australia then considers the nominations. The Council makes its recommendations, independent of government, direct to the Governor-General.

Awards in the Order of Australia are publicly announced on Australia Day (26 January) and the Queen's Birthday public holiday (June).

Past recipient story

Ron Russell AM was appointed a Member of the Order of Australia in 2004 for his services to engineering and his dedication to the welfare of the Hunter community in New South Wales, particularly for promoting apprenticeships and vocational training.

Medal design

The Member of the Order of Australia is a badge with a gold-plated silver insignia of the Order in the centre. The central insignia is inscribed with the word 'Australia'. The circle also contains two gold sprigs of mimosa. The insignia is ensigned with the Crown of St Edward.
